Information for customers who provide their own wood for turning jobs

Wood material needs to be free of any metal, rock or other materials that are not wood. (Pieces with objects such as nails may damage lathe parts. Repair or replacement of parts may cost hundreds of dollars, which is the customer's responsibility.) Squares must not be pressure treated or chemically treated lumber. Squares need to be milled square, sanded and precision end trimmed to the correct length. It is customary to include one extra square with an order. If the order is for 10 items or more, please provide one extra square for every ten squares that we turn. Unused squares or turnings will be returned with the order. Wood joints must be milled and glue applied according to the manufacturer's instructions. Any glue joint failure is the customer's responsibility.

If there should be any foreign objects (including but not limited to rocks, nails, screws and other hard materials), there is likely to be damage to the lathe or knives. The responsibility for the cost of repair of equipment rests on the customer.

Please have the person who accepts financial responsibility sign this statement and return to Osborne Wood Products, Inc.

Sincerely,

Leon A. Osborne,
President & CEO
